

Partner

Ever imagine being your own boss?

Achieving the Difference works with large and medium size organisation in high value product and service sectors to help them make strategic decisions with confidence and achieve clear competitive advantage. Our clients span many high value product or service sectors including; aerospace, defence, space and energy.

We wish to attract experienced business professionals to join the team. This is an opportunity to be your own boss, enjoy a profit share that is directly driven by your performance, enter a well-respected professional services practice, without the need to set up your own and develop an ownership share of a growing business.

Key responsibilities;

- Capturing business
- Delivering business
- Taking part in running the business

Requirements

- degree, preferably in an economics, business or aerospace -related subject
- competent in the use of Microsoft Office applications
- relevant professional experience at a senior level in relevant high value product or service sectors such as aerospace, defence, space or energy

Skills & Attributes

- ability to sell services
- strategic thinking
- communication
- planning and organising
- commercial awareness
- leadership
- self-motivated and comfortable working remotely
- resonance with the Achieving the Difference values

Career progression process

Progression subject to performance

